Projects And Relevant Experience

NextPoll:

Digital voting system in C, designed to serve local authority elections. The system features advanced mechanisms for voter identification and verification, a user-friendly interface for candidate selection, and technology for rapid vote counting. Developed with a focus on data security and result transparency.

ExamCraft:

Created an exam generating software using Java. The code takes in user input for exam questions and answers. Users can then manually compose an exam file, or have the software randomly generate it for them.
